U.S. Offensive Against Japs Rages; Red Defenses Cracking At Oil Fields

RUSSIANS ARE "SCORCHING" PRECIOUS OIL

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Aug. 10 (AP)—Driven back by relentless thrusts of German motorized troops and Alpinists, Red army defenses before the oil fields of Maikop and in spurs of the Caucasian foothills appeared to be cracking today.

Front line dispatches telling of tremendous explosions roaring over a broad area seemed to indicate the Russians were carrying out with ruthless abandon the scorched earth policy in the first oil regions the Germans have been able to penetrate in their Caucasian thrust.

German Claims

(The Germans, suddenly extending their drive eastward along the Baku railway toward the Caspian, claimed the capture of Pyatigorsk, 100 miles southeast of Armavir and midway between the Black sea and Caspian. They already had claimed to have reached the Caucasian slopes on a 250-mile front and captured Maikop and Krasnodar in the northwest Caucasus.

(On the Stalingrad front the German high command said that the Russians were making desperate resistance but that "their counter-attacks failed after bitter fighting."

("In the great Don elbow a strong enemy army west of Kalach has been encircled," it added. "Repeated enemy attacks to break out have been unsuccessful.")

Bomb Troop Ships

(Troop and supply laden ships were reported bombed by the German air force on the north Caucasian coast and a 4,000-ton merchant ship was reported sunk in the harbor of Taupsey.)

In large-scale tank battles in Kotelnikovsky area of the Don elbow, southwest of Stalingrad, the Soviet machines appeared to be as strong as the Germans, and the Red Army was counterattacking with some success.

Five hundred miles north of the Caucasus, in the Voronezh flank, the Russians were making further headway, expending their bridgeheads on the west bank of the Don, taking several populated places in violent fighting, and repulsing German counterattacks between the Don and Voronezh.

The Germans were bringing up reserves and still maintaining communications with their groups before the city, however.

Burn Wheat Fields

In the oil-bearing Maikop-Krasnodar area of the northwest Caucasus, said today's communique, the Germans were "striving hard to advance," and dispatches from the front said great shrouds of dust and smoke were draped over a broad landscape already baked by a broiling summer sun.

As the battle spread southward, dispatches told of burning wheat fields, indicating that in some sectors the Russians had not been able to harvest the grain before the approach of the enemy, as they were able to do farther north.

Using Sabers

There was no report here indicating whether the Russians who had been battling along the Black sea and Sea of Azov coasts had been cut off by the German advance south of Kishinev. But it was possible most of them were giving battle along the Kuban.

As fresh German Alpinists drove from Armavir, dispatches said saber-swinging horsemen of the Cossack villages defeated them in the first encounters in the Caucasian foothills.

Ambushes along the roads along which the Germans were pressing were a favorite Cossack trick.

Colonel Lampert Visits Gettysburg

Lt. Col. Lester L. Lampert, former Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Gettysburg college, visited friends in Gettysburg over the week-end. He is en route to Camp McClellan, Alabama.

Colonel Lampert recently returned to the States from Honolulu where he served a two-year duty. He was transferred to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, as an instructor and later assigned to duty at Camp McClellan. He stopped in Gettysburg over the week-end en route to Camp McClellan, Alabama.

He was on duty in Honolulu when Pearl Harbor was attacked.

Sergeant Bulleit At Officers' School

As one of two soldiers selected from Fort Eustis, Virginia, Staff Sergeant Eugene B. Bulleit is now pursuing a three-months' course at an officers' candidate school in Miami Beach, Florida.

Sergeant Bulleit began the course last Friday. The school is connected with the Army Air Forces administrative branch.

From February 17, 1941, the date of his induction, until he started his new course, Sergeant Bulleit was stationed with the headquarters detachment at Fort Eustis.

He is a son of Eugene V. Bulleit, Esq., and Mrs. Bulleit, College avenue.

MOOSE OPENS PROGRAM FOR DEDICATION

With the initiation of a class of 57 new members and an address by Albert H. Ladner, Jr., Philadelphia, past supreme governor of the Loyal Order of Moose, Gettysburg lodge No. 1526 on Sunday afternoon opened a six-day celebration marking the dedication of its remodeled and enlarged home on York street.

The new lodge quarters, to be thrown open for public inspection this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock, were filled for Sunday's celebration.

Initiation of the class of 57—part of a group of 125 new members being taken into the lodge—was conducted by the degree team from the York lodge headed by Chester Myers. Oliver Boyer, governor of the York lodge, introduced Past Supreme Governor Ladner who was sent here by the supreme lodge for the dedicatory exercises.

Steady Growth
Addressing himself first to the newly-initiated members, the speaker traced the growth of the Moose lodge from a group of 245 men at the time of its founding in 1906 by James J. Davis to its present membership of more than 500,000 members in 1,500 lodges. In the current lodge year 125,000 new members are being enrolled he stated.

Mentioning the social side of lodge life and the financial benefits to be derived from membership, Mr. Ladner praised the "great humanitarian program of service to mankind" as the "greatest thing about the lodge." The lodge stands for "the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of mankind" the speaker pointed out and reviewed the accomplishments of the founding and operation of Mooseheart and Moosehaven.

Week of Events
Reminding the new members of their initiatory pledges of "loyalty to God, nation, lodge and home," Mr. Ladner praised the local lodge (Please Turn to Page 5)

SEVEN COUNTY BOYS ADVANCED

Six Sergeants and one Corporal, all residents of Adams county and all members of the 28th Division now stationed at Camp Livingston, Louisiana, have been promoted according to an announcement from Major H. S. Messie of the Intelligence Section of the Division.

The promotions include: Sergeant Technician Gilbert J. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd H. Reed, who recently moved to York from Gettysburg, promoted to Technician, third grade.

Corporal Technician John W. Eiker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Eiker, Gettysburg R. 3, promoted to Sergeant Technician.

Sergeant John B. Bosak, son of Mrs. Anna S. Bosak, Gettysburg R. 3, to Technician, third grade.

Sergeant Earl L. Stites, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Stites, Gettysburg R. 1, to Technician, third grade.

Sergeant Ernest H. Simpson, Gettysburg R. 5, to Technician, third grade.

Sergeant Technician, fourth grade, John R. Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gilbert, Gettysburg R. 1, to Technician, third grade.

Sergeant Technician Charles M. Wenchoff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wenchoff, Gettysburg R. 2, to Technician, third grade.

At his appearance before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore last Friday afternoon, H. J. S. Zeigler, Mr. Joy township, waived hearings on three charges and furnished bail of $300 in each case for court.

The defendant is accused of maintaining a public nuisance by blocking a public road. He also faces two charges of malicious mischief.

The prosecutors are George M. Conover and Addison D. Newman, both of Littlestown R. D.

Conover accuses Zeigler of obstructing a private road crossing Zeigler's land and Newman alleges that the defendant destroyed and damaged telephone lines on two occasions.

Saboteurs Sentenced To Prison

The White House announced that George Dasch (left) and Ernest Peter Burger (right) had respectively been sentenced to 30 years at hard labor and to life at hard labor in prison. They are two of eight Nazi saboteurs landed in this country from submarines. The other six men were electrocuted in the District of Columbia jail.

Riots And Strikes Flare In Far East; Gandhi Is Arrested

By PRESTON GROVER

Bombay, Aug. 10 (AP)—The All-India Congress party's campaign of mass civil disobedience gained momentum today as workers left their jobs in 18 mills and rioting flared anew in Bombay, where police fired into a large and turbulent crowd which refused to disperse.

Violent disorders broke out in various parts of the city with demonstrators stoning suburban trains in one area and burning a government grain shop in another.

Eleven were sent to the hospital with bullet wounds suffered when police fired twice into groups in the Dagar district of Bombay. In Pognia police fired on a crowd, mostly of students near Parsurambnau college, and two were removed to a hospital. Schools and colleges there were closed. Goondas the Hindu name for hoodlums, threw bottles through windows.

More Trouble Brewing

The work stoppages in some Bombay mills were in response to Mohandas K. Gandhi's "do or die" call for a "complete deadlock" by strikes and all other non-violent means.

As the campaign entered its second day amid shootings, showers of bottles and shouts of demonstrators, there were reports of even greater trouble ahead.

Bands of Hindus stoned some Moslem shops in the "trouble area" of south central Bombay. Police have the greatest fear of repetition of the communal Moslem-Hindu riots which have followed previous civil disobedience campaigns. These riots often were the bloodiest and the most difficult to suppress.

Troops On Hand

Throughout the city troops were stationed in groups ranging from a dozen soldiers to a full platoon. They evidently were being shown largely for moral effect, however, for they were not participating with the police in breaking up disturbances. But they carried rifles.

The curfew from 7 a. m. to daylight plus rain kept the city quiet last night but the mid-morning saw (Please Turn to Page 5)

MAKE CHANGES AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Florence Sachs supervisor of nurses at the Warner hospital, has been placed in charge of professional phases of nursing services at the hospital. It was announced today by Dr. E. H. Markley, president of the hospital board of directors, as Miss Sara J. Clark ended her services as superintendent there after being a member of the hospital staff for 13 years.

Mrs. Cora Sferna, who has served a number of years as bookkeeper at the hospital, has been assigned various administrative duties formerly performed by Miss Clark.

Miss Edna Hill, dietitian and member of the nursing staff, has been placed in full charge of diets and foods at the hospital. Miss Clark formerly had supervision over that work.

Miss Clark, who is now vacationing at her home near New Oxford, has not announced her plans for the future.

Mrs. Sachs recently succeeded Miss Alice Ford as supervisor of nurses. She is the wife of Glenn W. Sachs, of Gettysburg. A graduate of William Backus hospital at Norwich, Connecticut, Mrs. Sachs formerly was head nurse at the University of Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor and before coming here was supervisor at the Hanover General hospital.

Countian's Car Leaves Highway

Felix Topper, 29, McSherrystown, escaped injury when his car ran off the Lincoln highway and upset about two miles west of New Oxford at about 11 o'clock Saturday evening. Damage to the machine was estimated at about $110.

Private H. F. Gill of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police investigated. No charges have been brought.

Appoints Viewers For Public Road

In response to a petition signed by taxpayers and road supervisors of Tyrone township, Judge W. C. Sheely in court here on Saturday appointed a three-man board of viewers to view and lay out a public road in that township connecting the Centre Mills-Idaville road with the road connecting York Springs with Idaville.

The viewers will make an investigation and report to the court on the proposed road. The board includes George M. Walter, Esq., P. S. Orner and John W. Lucasbaugh.

At the same session of court Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., was named master in the divorce action by Myrtle Richards Welch vs. Edward W. Welch.

JAILBREAKER IS STILL AT LARGE; SEEN NEAR HERE

Running down a series of tips received over the week-end Sheriff Daniel J. Wolf has established that Edward Wagonman, 20, who escaped from the county jail here last Thursday evening, has been hiding out in the vicinity of Granite station and was last seen there this morning.

Wagonman breakfasted this morning at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Osborne, near Granite, and a short time later was seen near Moritz's school house nearby, the sheriff learned.

Find No Trace
He, Deputy Sheriff B. E. Bixler and Private R. W. Wagner of the state motor police scoured the countryside but could find no trace of the missing prisoner. Cornfields in the area are believed to have given him shelter.

Sunday evening Wagonman was reported having been seen between Granite and Bonneauville and officers hastened to that section to make a search that ended late at night without any success.

Acting on a tip from a truck driver, who said he recognized a man in New Oxford early Saturday morning who resembled the description of Wagonman, Sheriff Wolf went to that part of the county but was unable to find any trace of the fugitive.

James Taylor, 19, the other prisoner who broke jail with Wagonman after the pair overpowered Joseph Cooley, 64, turnkey, was returned to jail Saturday morning. Taylor was turned over to police by Vaughn Peck, Gettysburg R. 1, after the latter had picked up the fugitive on the New Oxford-Bonneauville road early Saturday.

New Description
The truck driver who reported recognizing Wagonman said that the fugitive is now wearing a coat. In the description published after the jail break, Wagonman was reported not wearing a coat. The trucker said that the man he saw in New Oxford was wearing a sweatshirt decorated with red flowers. A sweatshirt of this kind was worn by Wagonman when he fled the jail, Sheriff Wolf said.

Wagonman's home is on Hanover R. 1.

Over the week-end, Taylor told (Please Turn to Page 5)

New Rules To Grade Apples

Harrisburg, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Department of Agriculture today set up new regulations for grading apples comparable with standards under which the nation's northwest growers market their product.

The action was taken following a brief hearing called by Secretary John H. Light.

"This action permits Pennsylvania growers to market boxed apples with official certification," Light declared, adding that there has been "a continual and increasing demand" for the change.

Fred Greist, president of the Adams County Fruit Growers association, the only person attending the hearing, favored the action.

ALLIES BLAST NIPPONESE ON SOLOMON ISLES

By C. YATES McDANIEL

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Aug. 10 (AP)—The United States' first powerful offensive of the war flamed into its fourth day today by sea, air and possibly land against savagely resisting Japanese in the Solomon islands with supporting assaults by Allied airmen on enemy positions in New Guinea and the Bismarck archipelago.

Latest word on the continuing action in the Solomons, while scant, indicated the initiative remained in the hands of the American fleet and other Allied forces which joined the battle Friday.

Major Offensive

This information was relayed from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, late yesterday by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, U. S. Pacific Naval commander. He gave no details as to the scope of the area under attack or the extent of the operations but all signs were that the drive might be developing into a major offensive operation.

Admiral Nimitz said the attack, on the Tulagi area in the southwest part of the Solomons, 600 miles off northeastern Australia, was being pressed by sea and air against Japanese land-based planes and garrisons and that "the operations are progressing favorably" despite enemy opposition.

A brief communique issued in Washington late yesterday said that "considerable enemy resistance has been encountered and it is still too early to announce results or to estimate either our own or enemy losses."

9 DIRECTORS OF REA NAMED ON SATURDAY

A board of nine directors to serve the Adams Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Gettysburg, for the next year was elected at the second annual meeting of the Cooperative's members which was held Saturday afternoon at Caledonia park during a session at which annual reports and several addresses were presented. More than 200 persons attended in spite of steady showers.

The new board, which will meet here Tuesday evening to complete its organization, includes: Edgar J. Smith, S. R. Kohler, Howard Schwartz, Cecil Dunbar, Carl Black and A. C. Keefe, all of Adams county; Edwin A. Kann, Franklin county, and W. G. Hensel and C. E. Jumper, both of Cumberland county.

Important strides in the development of the Cooperative during the last year were outlined in officers' reports while Judge W. C. Sheely told the members of the organization that their accomplishments could be traced to the united effort which they devoted to the goals set by the leaders. "Now we need that type of same united effort in war effort," the judge continued. "We need to avoid divisions. United effort will be just as successful in winning this war as it has been in building your organization and its prosperity," he declared.

President Cecil Dunbar of Liberty township presided at the meeting. A checkup showed 182 members present or represented by proxies (Please Turn to Page 5)

Postpone Surprise Air Raid Alarm Test

Announced plans for a state-wide surprise test air alarm cancelled arrangements being made by the Adams county council of defense for a surprise test in August in Gettysburg and Adams county. Tentative plans for the surprise test here were made at a county defense staff meeting last week. The state announcement followed.

At Salamaua, allied medium bombers set a supply ship ablaze with the direct bomb blow up several buildings, harbor installations and silenced anti-aircraft positions, it was announced.

Salamaua is the enemy's most important base in New Guinea while Rabaul is the chief Japanese base in New Britain, a part of the Bismarck archipelago.

The complete absence of Japanese bombing activity in the northwestern sector and the limiting of activity in the northeast to defensive aerial fighting emphasized the effectiveness of the allied attacks in support of the Solomon Islands battle.

RUSSIANS ARE "SCORCHING" PRECIOUS OIL

New Rules To Grade Apples

Harrisburg, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Department of Agriculture today set up new regulations for grading apples comparable with standards under which the nation's northwest growers market their product.

The action was taken following a brief hearing called by Secretary John H. Light.

"This action permits Pennsylvania growers to market boxed apples with official certification," Light declared, adding that there has been "a continual and increasing demand" for the change.

Fred Greist, president of the Adams County Fruit Growers association, the only person attending the hearing, favored the action.

ALLIES BLAST NIPPONESE ON SOLOMON ISLES

By C. YATES McDANIEL

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Aug. 10 (AP)—The United States' first powerful offensive of the war flamed into its fourth day today by sea, air and possibly land against savagely resisting Japanese in the Solomon islands with supporting assaults by Allied airmen on enemy positions in New Guinea and the Bismarck archipelago.

Latest word on the continuing action in the Solomons, while scant, indicated the initiative remained in the hands of the American fleet and other Allied forces which joined the battle Friday.

Major Offensive

This information was relayed from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, late yesterday by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, U. S. Pacific Naval commander. He gave no details as to the scope of the area under attack or the extent of the operations but all signs were that the drive might be developing into a major offensive operation.

Admiral Nimitz said the attack, on the Tulagi area in the southwest part of the Solomons, 600 miles off northeastern Australia, was being pressed by sea and air against Japanese land-based planes and garrisons and that "the operations are progressing favorably" despite enemy opposition.

Land Fighting

Allied sources failed to mention the presence of any transports in the attacking fleet but Admiral Nimitz' reference to enemy land garrisons was interpreted as intimating that the operation was amphibious. This suggested the possibility that land fighting might be in progress on the Solomons.

Or the Allies might have beat the enemy to the draw to thwart another invasion attempt aimed at Australia. It was at Tulagi, on the fringe of Coral Sea, that the Japanese assembled the invasion armada subsequently smashed in those waters.

Today's communique from General MacArthur's headquarters, without mentioning the Solomon Islands battle itself, reported Sunday attacks by allied planes on three enemy bases in New Guinea and New Britain.

Keep Japs Busy

A spokesman said these raids, which were heavy in the past 24 hours, were aimed at tying up Japanese aircraft and preventing them from engaging in the action in the Solomons.

The allied bombers struck both by day and night at the key Japanese base Rabaul, in New Britain, shooting down five enemy Zero fighters with the loss of one allied bomber; raided Gasmata, also in New Britain; and inflicted new and heavy destruction at Salamaua, New Guinea.

Burn Supply Ship

At Salamaua, allied medium bombers set a supply ship aflame with the direct bomb hits, blew up several buildings, hit harbor installations and silenced anti-aircraft positions, it was announced.

Salamaua is the enemy's most important base in New Guinea while Rabaul is the chief Japanese base in New Britain, a part of the Bismarck Archipelago.

The complete absence of Japanese bombing activity in the northwestern sector and the limiting of activity in the northeast to defensive aerial fighting emphasized the effectiveness of the allied attacks in support of the Solomon Islands battle.

U. S. ASSAULT ON JAPS HELPS RUSSIAN CAUSE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World Analyst

The week-end has developed three major crises, which, although in widely separated theaters, seem to be closely related—(1) the American offensive against the Japanese in the Solomon and Aleutian islands, (2) the further German gain in the Balkan oil zone of the northern Caucasus, and (3) the inauguration of the Indian Nationalist revolt against British rule.

While we have no official interpretation of the strategic purposes of the new drive against the Japs, I think we are warranted in assuming that it probably is intended to serve in part as a "second front" to protect Russia from the Japanese during the height of the Caucasian pressure. There is danger that the Japanese may take advantage of the Soviet difficulties to attack Siberia, and our offensive may be intended to create a sufficient diversion, especially in the air, to discourage them from sticking a knife in Russia's back.

Allies Threatened

The Indian tragedy provides further incentive for the Japanese to duplicate their Pearl Harbor treachery and strike at Russia. With India thus stricken, and the Allies in danger of seeing this vast arsenal and vital strategic base rendered useless—or perhaps much worse—the hand of the United Nations against Japan will be weakened.

By the same token China loses striking power against the Japs. Since the Nipponese cut the Burma road she has been getting most of her supplies from the outside world by air from India and over primitive trade trails through the mountains from that country.

However, while our offensive does protect Russia, either by design or by circumstance, it undoubtedly is calculated to do more than create a diversion to help our Soviet ally. The Solomons and the neighboring Bismarck archipelago which the Japs hold, together with north-eastern New Guinea, not only constitute a threat to our sea communications with Australia and New Zealand, but they provide the enemy with an enviable base for an attack on the Australian mainland.

Threat to Japs

Whether this offensive will develop into a major operation probably depends on what success meets our initial efforts. The chances are that our command is figuring on ousting the Japs entirely from this whole group of islands if things go well. That would be a great achievement and one which would create a threat against the whole structure of the Nipponese island conquests.

Apart from the strategic considerations, this offensive may provide a most useful answer to the Chinese appeals for Allied initiative in the Orient, and the Australian fears of invasion. A success there certainly would do much for morale at a time when Britain and America are having to devote most of their energy to meeting the German onslaught against Russia.

May Save Siberia

There are several sound reasons also for our drive to clean the Japs out of the far western Aleutians where they have been trying, apparently with some degree of success, to establish bases. Of course, any Japanese occupation in the Aleutians is a threat against Alaska and our west coast. These islands also lie across our communications with Siberia, and our nearest air route to Japan. If the Nipponese were to attack Russia, a base in the islands would be of great value, and the loss of their toe hold might further discourage the Japs from any adventure against Siberia.

The position of the Russians in the battle north of the Maikop oil region is increasingly serious, as the Hitlerites continue to drive forward with their great weight of mechanical equipment. The most hopeful indication from the Allied standpoint is that the Reds continue to fight an orderly withdrawal, without annihilation of any great units of troops. There has been no disorder reported, and that is all to the good.

Children Can Get Working Permits

In commenting on the information given Adams county school directors at their convention-picnic last week, the office of the county superintendent here has reminded the directors that children between 14 and 15 years of age can get permanent working permits in cases of urgent need.

This was pointed out by Carl D. Mornesneck, Public Instruction director, who reminded the directors that permits of this nature are granted only on the approval of the county superintendent and the superintendent of Public Instruction.

A state law provides that "no minor under fourteen shall be employed or permitted to work in any establishment or in any occupation," but the county superintendent's office pointed out.

Lt. F. T. Snyder Is Given Promotion

Word of the promotion of Lt. Francis T. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Snyder, Baltimore street, to the rank of captain has been received by his wife, who is living at her home in Hidersburg while her husband is in Africa on a special mission as an observer with the British Army.

Earlier this summer Captain Snyder flew to Africa in command of 115 soldiers—18 full tank crews—and when last heard from by relatives here was in Egypt. Upon his return to this country, Captain Snyder will be assigned as an instructor in the armored division.

After his graduation from college here in 1940, he completed a brief training period at Fort Meade and then was commissioned in the regular Army and was sent to Fort Knox. Later he was transferred to Pine Camp, New York, but returned to Fort Knox before being sent abroad.

PROMOTED TO CAPTAIN

First Lieutenant Lester L. Lampert, Jr., son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lester L. Lampert formerly of Gettysburg, has been promoted to the rank of captain according to word received by The Gettysburg Times today. Captain Lampert, a graduate of West Point in 1939, is stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss.

COLLEGE GRAD ACTING DEAN

Charleston, Ill., Aug. 10 — Dr. Hobart F. Heller, who has been dean of men at Eastern Illinois State Teachers' College at Charleston, Illinois, and a member of the mathematics department since 1931, has been appointed acting dean of the college according to an announcement by President Robert G. Buzard.

Dr. Heller takes over the duties of Dr. F. A. Beu, who has been appointed president of the Western Illinois State Teachers' College, Macomb, Illinois.

A native of Forty Fort, Pa., Doctor Heller was graduated from Berwick High School in 1919, received the B.S. degree from Gettysburg College and the A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia University. He taught in three Pennsylvania high schools, at Gettysburg, 1924-25, at Berwick, 1925-28, and at James M. Coughlin High School at Wilkes-Barre, 1928-30. For three summers he was a critic teacher at Bucknell University and for two summers he served as principal of the demonstration school at Bucknell.

Leahy, asserting that "no pleasant fate awaits a beaten America," said: "The picture is grim, today. But I can remember a time when it was grim in 1918. . . . I believe that it was unity of purpose and willingness to sacrifice that stopped the tyrant then. That spirit still lives among us."

20 WAR PLANTS GET AWARDS IN WORK EFFORTS

Washington, Aug. 10 (AP)—Twenty major American war plants receive new Army-Navy production awards today following President Roosevelt's declaration that battle needs demanded "an unceasing flow" of weapons and materials.

"The united efforts of our Army and Navy striking at the enemy on every continent and every ocean, and of our people at home working without interruption to turn out the weapons of war," Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday, "cannot fail to produce the victory which will again establish the tradition of free men throughout the world."

In a message read over a special broadcast, the President said "great progress" had been made on the production front, but added that "in terms of what will be required to defeat our enemies, we have only just begun to get into our stride."

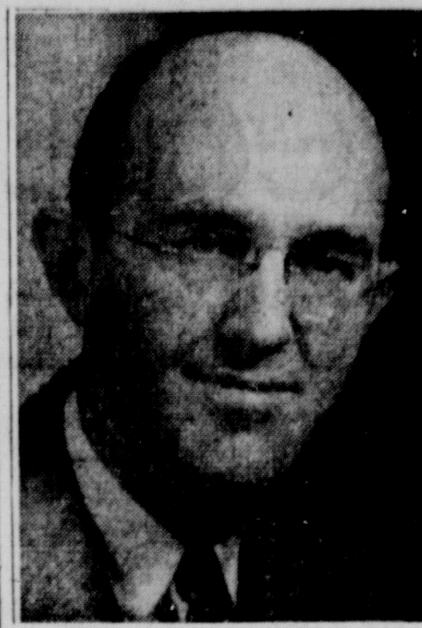

The President's message featured a broadcast during which top government and labor officials pledged their united efforts to speed war production.

"An Army-Navy production flag flying above a factory or mine will bear witness that management and labor there are doing their utmost to help their Army and Navy win this war," the Chief Executive's message said.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, told the nation of a "crucial need for more raw materials" and warned that victory would demand "undreamed-of sacrifices and privations." Winning the war will be "a long and bloody task," he said.

Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to the President, expressed the belief that Americans, as individuals, possibly had not yet realized the "bitter truth" that "we are fighting for freedom."

Leahy, asserting that "no pleasant fate awaits a beaten America," said: "The picture is grim, today. But I can remember a time when it was grim in 1918. . . . I believe that it was unity of purpose and willingness to sacrifice that stopped the tyrant then. That spirit still lives among us."

Lincoln Highway Project Halted

Shortage of materials has necessitated abandonment of plans for reconstruction of 7.49 miles of the Lincoln Highway in Adams county.

The Highway Department was to have opened bids Friday on the project, but withdrew the work without receiving the bids in view of the inability to obtain a priority for materials.

The proposed new stretch would have begun between Piney Mountain Inn and Newman's Hill and extended eastward to McKnightstown.

A spokesman of the department at Harrisburg said that the low bid of Fred Berlianti and Son of Harrisburg, New York, on the 3.21 miles Lincoln Highway project in Franklin county has been neither accepted nor rejected. This project would begin at the borough limits of Chambersburg, and extend eastward.

Cubs Defeat Reds 10-8 In 18-Inning Ball Game; 5 Hours To Play; 1-Hour Delay

CLEVELAND IS BEATEN TWICE BY WHITE SOX

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
The Associated Press

Most baseball teams will go to great lengths to win their games but few have had to go as far as the Chicago Cubs, who needed 18 innings yesterday to trip the Cincinnati Reds in the opener of a doubleheader.

Twelve pitchers, the most ever used in a major league game, paraded to the mound in the longest game in the majors this season.

Three times the Cubs figured they had it in the bag, but each time the Reds tied it up. Finally Hiram Bithorn, last of six Chicago hurlers, blanked the Reds for six straight innings and the Cubs secured the 18th inning blows of Stan Hack and Dom Dilessandro between a walk and an outfield fly for two runs and a 10-8 decision.

5 Hours to Play

The game itself lasted five hours and was interrupted for another hour by weather in the 13th frame. That left only an hour of daylight for the second game, which the Reds won 2-1, in four and a half innings, with Bithorn the starting and losing hurler.

A total of 37 players participated in the first game—three short of the record held by the Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Braves. The previous record of 11 pitchers in a single game was set when the Philadelphia Phillies used six against the New York Giants, who used five. Four other games played in the National league and three in the American have employed that many fingers.

By squaring accounts in the nightcap, the Reds preserved third place in the National league by a lone percentage point over the New York Giants, who swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies.

Get 39 Hits

The Cubs might have won the opener in regulation time if Claude Passeau hadn't weakened in the ninth after pitching eight scoreless innings against the White Sox. The Reds routed Passeau with four runs which tied the score and came from behind to knot it twice more when the Cubs scored two in the 10th and two in the 12th.

Some batters appeared at the plate 10 times, with the losers leading in hits, 20 to 19.

The St. Louis Cardinals squeezed past the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3 and 2-1, to trim Brooklyn's lead to eight games. The Dodgers bumped into a postponement at Boston.

Stan Musial handled the clutch hitting for the Red Birds, driving in the winning marker in the nightcap and setting the stage for the tie-breaking rally in the curtain-raiser, each time with a double.

Giants Win Two

At Philadelphia, the Giants tripped the Phils, 3-2, in the first game when Mel Ott laid down a 10th inning bunt with the bases loaded, but Bill McGee made things easier in the second game, pitching a five-hit shutout as the Giants won, 2-0.

In the American league, the New York Yankees increased their lead to a dozen games and the Boston Red Sox moved into second place, although neither team lifted a bat. It all came about when the Chicago White Sox clipped the Cleveland Indians, 11-1 and 3-2, stretching their winning streak to eight games and dropping the tribe half a game behind the Red Sox. Ted Lyons pitched four-hit ball in the opener for his 10th win this year and his seventh in a row.

Bob Kennedy, who was sworn into the Naval Air Corps between games, won the nightcap by singling the winning run across in the ninth.

The Detroit Tigers, had the help of 11 St. Louis errors as they downed the Browns, 9-3 and 3-1.

Doubleheaders between the Yanks and Philadelphia Athletics and the Red Sox and Washington Senators were postponed until today.

Hambletonian To Be Run This Wednesday

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—At least a dozen owners and trainers aren't so certain that Colby Hambleton, champion two-year-old trotter of 1941, is going to have such an easy time in Wednesday's famed Hambletonian as the short odds indicate and are willing to spend $500 to nominate their own candidates.

The makeup of the field won't be known until Tuesday noon when the last $500 of the entry fee is due for indications are that anywhere from 10 to 14 trotters will compete in the sports "World Series" on Wednesday.

If the field contains 14 that day it will equal the record size of the first race in 1926 and will hike the value of the purse to $40,000.

Fred Egan will be in the favorite's sulky while Harry Whitner will handle the reins on Cannon Ball, rated by most experts as the favorite's chief rival. Egan triumphed in 1940 with Spencer Scott.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLETON, JR.

New York, Aug. 10.—To clear the track for the Hambletonian, Roosevelt Raceway has called off its Wednesday night harness races and will cancel the Thursday card, too, if the big race up at Goshen is delayed a day.

Current figures for the World-Telegram hole-in-one tournament that starts today show that the 1,000 or so guys entered to take five shots each have almost a chance to make one ace. . . . In ten years the tourney has produced four aces in 30,320 shots, making the odds 7,585 to 1 against doing the trick. . . . 80-year-old Amos Alonzo Stagg and 62-year-old Bob Zuppke will sit on the bench together at the All-Stars vs Chicago Bears football game at Chicago Aug. 23. . . . Wonder how much younger they'd feel if they were back in the Big Ten and had that kind of material?

NIT-AND-ERROR

Philadelphia scribes say this actually happened, which probably explains the Phils' position in the National league standings. . . . The other day Manager Hans Lobert flashed the hit-and-run signal to one of his players. SMITH TAKES 3 AAU SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIPS

By LOU BLACK

New London, Conn., Aug. 10 (AP)—Big, Billy Smith, Jr., and pint-sized Keo Nakama, Hawaiians, are as inseparable outside of water as Damon and Pythias. But, once inside the "drink," lookout, brother!

Smith, sensation of the National A.A.U. men's outdoor swimming championships which ended yesterday in a downpour of rain, and Nakama, Ohio State sophomore, met twice during the three-day meet, the results were overtime work for the keeper of records.

Yesterday, the broad-shouldered 17-year-old Smith and his buddy clashed in the 220-yard free style grind and both broke the world's record. Smith's longer reach provided the margin as he touched out in 9 minutes and 54.6 seconds, 13 seconds better than the listed international mark recorded by Ralph Planagan of Miami, Florida, seven years ago. Nakama was a fraction of a second off Smith's pace.

440-Yard Mark

The previous day, Nakama pushed his pal to the 440-yard free style world's record of four minutes, 39.5 seconds, more than a second off the standard set by Jack Medina of University of Washington in 1934.

Without the dark-haired Nakama to extend him, Smith, who enters Ohio State next month to study civil engineering, also lunged up the American 220-yard free style mark of two minutes, 10.7 seconds on opening day. In all, this one-man record wrecker captured three crowns.

Nakama, himself, came in for some glory by winning the one-mile grind, one of the four titles that went to Ohio State swimmers as they piled up 51 points to capture the team crown, 14 more than runner-up Yale.

Jim Counsilman won the 220-yard breast stroke for the Buckeyes, who also annexed the 330-yard medley and 230-yard free style relays.

Amateur Trap-Shoot

Champ Adds Title

Lebanon, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—

George Newmaster, world amateur trap-shoot champion, has added two more titles to his collection.

Newmaster won over-all honors in a five-day tournament at Yorklyn, Delaware, last week, cracking 1,125 out of 1,150 targets, then broke 99 out of 100 here yesterday to win the tri-county trap-shooters match.

Roy Hemmig of Reading and Frank E. Dissinger of Lebanon tied for second with 96 and Mrs. George P. Fairchild of Reading placed third with 94. Frank D. Lousier, Mt. Aetna, tied Newmaster with 50 straight targets for high gun award.

Police Pistol Team Drops Engagements

Harrisburg, Aug. 10 (AP)—Scarcity of ammunition and transportation have put the championship Pennsylvania Motor Police pistol team out of competition for the duration of the war.

Col. Lynn G. Adams, police commissioner, head of the organization, reported he had turned down several invitations for the team to defend its national titles because "we cannot afford to waste ammunition, gasoline and rubber."

The motor police has enough ammunition to last several years, he said, adding, however, that everything possible was being done to avoid waste.

"The men use empty guns and moving bulletines to keep in practice—we call it dry shooting," he explained.

In 1911 Colonel Adams organized the first State Police pistol team and two years later it won the first of many national titles.

Cubs Defeat Reds 10-8 In 18-Inning Ball Game; 5 Hours To Play; 1-Hour Delay

CLEVELAND IS BEATEN TWICE BY WHITE SOX

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
The Associated Press

Most baseball teams will go to great lengths to win their games but few have had to go as far as the Chicago Cubs, who needed 18 innings yesterday to trip the Cincinnati Reds in the opener of a doubleheader.

Twelve pitchers, the most ever used in a major league game, paraded to the mound in the longest game in the majors this season.

Three times the Cubs figured they had it in the bag, but each time the Reds tied it up. Finally Hiram Bithorn, last of six Chicago hurlers, blanked the Reds for six straight innings and the Cubs sandwiched the 18th inning blows of Stan Hack and Dom Dallessandro between a walk and an outfield fly for two runs and a 10-8 decision.

5 Hours to Play
The game itself lasted five hours and was interrupted for another hour by weather in the 13th frame. That left only an hour of daylight for the second game, which the Reds won 2-1, in four and a half innings, with Bithorn the starting and losing hurler.

A total of 37 players participated in the first game—three short of the record held by the Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Braves. The previous record of 11 pitchers in a single game was set when the Philadelphia Phillies used six against the New York Giants, who used five. Four other games played in the National league and three in the American have employed that many flingers.

By squaring accounts in the nightcap, the Reds preserved third place in the National league by a lone percentage point over the New York Giants, who swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phils.

Get 39 Hits
The Cubs might have won the opener in regulation time if Claude Passeau hadn't weakened in the ninth after pitching eight scoreless innings against Bucky Walters. The Reds routed Passeau with four runs which tied the score and came from behind to knot it twice more when the Cubs scored two in the 10th and two in the 12th.

Some batters appeared at the plate 10 times, with the losers leading in hits, 20 to 19.

The St. Louis Cardinals squeezed past the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3 and 2-1, to trim Brooklyn's lead to eight games. The Dodgers bumped into a postponement at Boston.

Stan Musial handled the clutch hitting for the Red Birds, driving in the winning marker in the nightcap and setting the stage for the tie-breaking rally in the curtain-raiser, each time with a double.

Giants Win Two
At Philadelphia, the Giants tripped the Phils, 3-2, in the first game when Mel Ott laid down a 10th inning bunt with the bases loaded, but Bill McGee made things easier in the second game, pitching a five-hit shutout as the Giants won, 2-0.

In the American league, the New York Yankees increased their lead to a dozen games and the Boston Red Sox moved into second place, although neither team lifted a bat.

It all came about when the Chicago White Sox clipped the Cleveland Indians, 11-1 and 3-2, stretching their winning streak to eight games and dropping the tribe half a game behind the Red Sox. Ted Lyons pitched four-hit ball in the opener for his 10th win this year and his seventh in a row.

Bob Kennedy, who was sworn into the Naval Air Corps between games, won the nightcap by singling the winning run across in the ninth.

The Detroit Tigers, had the help of 11 St. Louis errors as they downed the Browns, 9-3 and 3-1.

Doubleheaders between the Yanks and Philadelphia Athletics and the Red Sox and Washington Senators were postponed until today.

Hambletonian To Be Run This Wednesday

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP)—At least a dozen owners and trainers aren't so certain that Colby Hambleton, champion two-year-old trotter of 1941, is going to have such an easy time in Wednesday's famed Hambletonian as the short odds indicate and are willing to spend $500 to nominate their own candidates.

The makeup of the field won't be known until Tuesday noon when the last $500 of the entry fee is due for indications are that anywhere from 10 to 14 trotters will compete in the sports "World Series" on Wednesday.

If the field contains 14 that day it will equal the record size of the first race in 1926 and will hike the value of the purse to $40,000.

Fred Egan will be in the favorite's sulky while Harry Whitney will handle the reins on Cannon Ball, rated by most experts as the favorite's chief rival. Egan triumphed in 1940 with Spencer Scott.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 10—To clear the track for the Hambletonian, Roosevelt Raceway has called off its Wednesday night harness races and will cancel the Thursday card, too, if the big race up at Goshen is delayed a day. . . . Current figures for the World-Telegram hole-in-one tournament that starts today show that the 1,000 or so guys entered to take five shots each have almost a chance to make one ace. . . . In ten years the tourney has produced four aces in 30,380 shots, making the odds 7,595 to 1 against doing the trick.

80-year-old Amos Alonzo Stagg and 63-year-old Bob Zupke will sit on the bench together at the All-Stars vs Chicago Bears football game at Chicago Aug. 28. . . . Wonder how much younger they'd feel if they were back in the Big Ten and had that kind of material?

U. S. ASSAULT ON JAPS HELPS RUSSIAN CAUSE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World Analyst

The week-end has developed three major crises, which, although in widely separated theaters, seem to be closely related—(1) the American offensive against the Japanese in the Solomon and Aleutian islands, (2) the further German gain in the Maitkop oil zone of the northern Caucasus, and (3) the inauguration of the Indian Nationalist revolt against British rule.

While we have no official interpretation of the strategic purposes of the new drive against the Japs, I think we are warranted in assuming that it probably is intended to serve in part as a "second front" to protect Russia from the Japanese during the height of the Caucasian pressure. There is danger that the Japanese may take advantage of the Soviet difficulties to attack Siberia, and our offensive may be intended to create a sufficient diversion, especially in the aim, to discourage them from sticking a knife in Russia's back.

Allies Threatened
The Indian tragedy provides further incentive for the Japanese to duplicate their Pearl Harbor treachery and strike at Russia. With India thus stricken, and the allies in danger of seeing this vast arsenal and vital strategic base rendered useless—or perhaps much worse—the hand of the United Nations against Japan will be weakened.

By the same token China loses striking power against the Japs. Since the Japanese cut the Burma road she has been getting most of her supplies from the outside world by air from India and over primitive trade trails through the mountains from that country.

However, while our offensive does protect Russia, either by design or by circumstance, it undoubtedly is calculated to do more than create a diversion to help our Soviet ally. The Solomons and the neighboring Bismark archipelago which the Japs hold, together with north-eastern New Guinea, not only constitute a threat to our sea communications with Australia and New Zealand, but they provide the enemy with an envious base for an attack on the Australian mainland.

Threat to Japs
Whether this offensive will develop into a major operation probably depends on what success meets our initial efforts. The chances are that our command is figuring on ousting the Japs entirely from this whole group of islands if things go well. That would be a great achievement and one which would create a threat against the whole structure of the Japanese island conquest.

Apart from the strategic considerations, this offensive may provide a most useful answer to the Chinese appeals for Allied initiative in the Orient, and the Australian fears of a success there certainly would do much for morale at a time when Britain and America are having to devote most of their energy to meeting the German onslaught against Russia.

May Save Siberia
There are several sound reasons for our drive to clean the Japs out of the far western Aleutians—they have been trying, apparently with some degree of success, to establish bases. Of course, Japanese occupation in the Aleutians is a threat against Alaska on the west coast. These islands are across our communications with Siberia, and our nearest air route to Japan. If the Japanese were to attack Russia, a base in the Aleutians would be of great value, and the Japs of their too hold might further encourage the Japs from any further attack against Siberia.

The position of the Russians in the battle north of the Maitkop oil region is increasingly serious, as the Japanese continue to drive forward with their great weight of mechanical equipment. The most serious indication from the Allied viewpoint is that the Reds continue to fight on orders withdrawn, without annihilation of any great number of troops. There has been no order reported, and that is all to good.

Lincoln Highway Project Halted

Scrapping of materials has necessitated abandonment of plans for reconstruction of 749 miles of the Lincoln Highway in Adams county. The Highway Department was to have opened bids Friday on the project, but withdrew the work without opening the bids in view of the inability to obtain a priority for materials.

The proposed new stretch would have begun between Piney Mountain Inn and Newman's Hill and extended eastward to McKnightstown.

A spokesman of the department at Harrisburg said that the low bid of Fred Berlanti and Son of Harrisburg, New York, on the 321 miles Lincoln Highway project in Franklin county has been neither accepted nor rejected. This project would begin at the borough limits of Chambersburg, and extend eastward.

Weddings

At 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon in the York Springs Methodist church, Miss Wilma Helen Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Potts, York Springs, became the bride of Wesley Schaible, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schaible, Owings Mills, Maryland.

The church was filled by friends and relatives who witnessed the single ring ceremony which was performed by the pastor, the Rev. Earl N. Rowe.

Edward Schaible, Baltimore, brother of the bridegroom, was best man while Mrs. Henry Buetner, Baltimore, served as the matron of honor. Three sisters of the bride, the Misses Beryle, Hazel and Wilfred Potts, served as bridesmaids. The ushers were Henry Buetner, Baltimore; Richard Myers and Kenneth Hankey, both of York Springs.

Before the ceremony Dale Roth, instructor in music in the York Springs schools, sang "At Dawning," and "O Promise Me." During the ceremony he sang "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Jean Pearson, York Springs, was the organist.

A reception followed the ceremony and was held in the Sunday School rooms of the church. The couple is residing in a newly-furnished apartment in Pikesville, Maryland. Mr. Schaible is employed as assistant cashier of the Pikesville bank.

The bride is a graduate of the York Springs high school in the class of 1940. Later she studied music at Lebanon Valley college.

Trostle-Myers
Miss Cora S. Myers, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. John M. Myers, Fairfield R. 2, was married to Allan F. Trostle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Trostle, Gettysburg R. 3, at 12 o'clock noon Sunday.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride, under an archway of old-fashioned flowers, by the bride's father, pastor of the Church of the Brethren.

The bride wore a powder blue dress with white accessories and carried lilies. She had as her attendant her sister, Miss Rosa M. Myers, of Philadelphia, who wore a dress of dusty pink with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Kenneth Stoner, of Gettysburg, acted as best man.

Haar-Rodgers
Miss Violet May Rodgers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rodgers, Abbottstown, and Corporal Glenn Martin Haar, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Haar, New Oxford, were united in marriage at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the presence of a few relatives and friends in St. John's Lutheran church, Abbottstown.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Snyder Allenman, pastor of the couple. They were unattended.

The bride is a graduate of the East Berlin high school in the class of 1940 and is employed by the Coulson Heel company, Hanover. The bridegroom, a graduate of the New Oxford high school, is a member of the Quartermaster Detachment, stationed at Indiantown Gap. Following a short wedding trip the bride will reside at the home of her parents for the duration of the war.

Shelton-Shaffer
Miss Mabel Shaffer, Luthersburg, and Corp David Shelton, Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, son of Mrs. Stella Shelton, Taneytown, were united in marriage in the Elias Lutheran parsonage, Emmitsburg, on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. Philip E. Bower, pastor, was witnessed by Mrs. John Little and Mrs. R. J. Waltersdorf, Hanover. Corporal Shelton returned to Camp Chaffee Sunday.

Bream-Hockensmith
Miss Grandlyn Hockensmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hockensmith, Irishtown, and Private Elvin Bream, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bream, also of Irishtown, were united in marriage at a ceremony which took place in the chapel at Camp Livingston, Louisiana. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Kerns. The couple were attended by friends of the bridegroom.

MRS. W. L. STULL DIES SATURDAY

Mrs. Sarah A. Stull, 69, wife of Walter L. Stull, Grandview Terrace, Gettysburg R. D., died Saturday afternoon at 1:40 o'clock at the Warner hospital from a complication of diseases. She had been bed-fast two weeks.

The deceased was born in Duquesne, a daughter of the late Charles C. Elizabeth (Guthrie) Corey.

The Stulls moved here from Charlotte, North Carolina, in June, 1938. Mrs. Stull was an active member of the local Methodist church. She graduated from Slippery Rock State Teachers' college and Duquesne university.

Surviving are her husband, a retired meat market operator; four children, Miss Elizabeth C. Stull, at home; John C. Atlanta, Georgia; Walter E. Charlotte, North Carolina, and Mrs. Katharine McNutt, McKeesport; three grandchildren, McKeesport; Samuel Corey, Dravosburg, Pa., and Frank Corey, Morgantown, West Virginia.

Funeral services from the late home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock conducted by the Rev. Paul Leedy, Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

Friends may call at the late home this evening.

College Receives $1,000 Bequest

The office of Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, Gettysburg college president, was informed today by counsel for the estate of the late Mrs. Agnes Krebs of Hellam, that a bequest of $1,000 to Gettysburg college is included in Mrs. Krebs' will.

The bequest is made, the college was informed, "in honor of Mrs. Krebs' son, Wayne B. Krebs, who was an alumnus of the college." Mr. Krebs died in 1917 while teaching in the high school at State College.

Chapter Exceeds Knitting Quota

Miss Oneida Dern, who directs the knitting activities of the local Red Cross, has announced that there still is plenty of yarn available for men's and women's sweaters.

While pointing out that Red Cross knitting activities are continuing, Miss Dern revealed that 764 children's sweaters have been finished by the Adams county chapter. This is 175 sweaters over the chapter's quota, she said.

Arendtsville Boy At Foreign Base

Lieutenant William B. Allison, U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Allison, Arendtsville, has arrived safely at a foreign base according to a cablegram received by his parents today. The cable did not state where the young officer has landed.

Lieutenant Allison is a graduate of Gettysburg college and was commissioned in the Marine Corps several months ago. He has been in service since October 29, 1941.

REA Bookkeeper At Special School

Robert M. Smith, bookkeeper for the Adams Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Gettysburg went to Harrisburg on Sunday where he is spending this week attending a special Rural Electrification bookkeepers' school, it was announced today by C. A. Cluck, Cooperative superintendent.

The first four days of the school will be devoted to approved standard accounting methods and on Friday the sessions will be given over to general operations problems. Mr. Cluck will go to Harrisburg for Friday's sessions.

Children Can Get Working Permits

In commenting on the information given Adams county school directors at their convention-plenit last week, the office of the county superintendent here has reminded the directors that children between 14 and 15 years of age can get permanent working permits in cases of urgent need.

This was pointed out by Carl D. Morneweck, Public Instruction officer, who reminded the directors that permits of this nature are granted only on the approval of the county superintendent and the superintendent of Public Instruction.

A state law provides that "no minor under fourteen shall be employed or permitted to work in any establishment or in any occupation," the county superintendent's office pointed out.

Lt. F. T. Snyder Is Given Promotion

Word of the promotion of Lt. Francis T. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Snyder, Baltimore street, to the rank of captain has been received by his wife, who is living at her home in Heidersburg while her husband is in Africa on a special mission as an observer with the British Army.

Earlier this summer Captain Snyder flew to Africa in command of 115 soldiers—18 full tank crews—and when last heard from by relatives here was in Egypt. Upon his return to this country, Captain Snyder will be assigned as an instructor in the armored division.

After his graduation from college here in 1940, he completed a brief training period at Fort Meade and then was commissioned in the regular Army and was sent to Fort Knox. Later he was transferred to Pine Camp, New York, but returned to Fort Knox before being sent abroad.

PROMOTED TO CAPTAIN

First Lieutenant Lester L. Lampert, Jr., son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Lester L. Lampert formerly of Gettysburg, has been promoted to the rank of captain according to word received by The Gettysburg Times today. Captain Lampert, a graduate of West Point in 1939, is stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Arendtsville

Miss Louise Singley has returned from a visit with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ernst, Philadelphia. She returned with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Taylor, who spent the week-end in Philadelphia.

David Bushman, York, spent the week-end at his home here.

Bruce Raffensperger has returned from Atlantic City where he spent the week-end.

Despite the inclement weather, the all-day picnic held by the St. Ignatius Catholic parish on Saturday was fairly well attended. The Arendtsville high school band, which was to have furnished the music, did not attend due to the weather conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Raffensperger, Harrisburg, spent the week-end with relatives in town.

With the opening of schools in September Menallen township will have done away with all its one room school buildings. Last year the enrollment at Fairmount was 25 pupils and that at West Point 18. It was decided to close those buildings and carry the pupils by bus to other schools.

The first six grades pupils will be taken to the Wernville school and those of the seventh and eighth grades will go to Biglerville. Menallen township will have three school buildings, each having five rooms—they are Locust Grove, Wernville and Brysonia Consolidated.

Buz-

DR. HOBART F. HELLER

zard. Doctor Heller takes over the duties of Dr. F. A. Beu, who has been appointed president of the Western Illinois State Teachers' College, Macomb, Illinois.

A native of Forty Fort, Pa., Doctor Heller was graduated from Berwick High School in 1919, received the B.S. degree from Gettysburg College and the A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia University.

He taught in three Pennsylvania high schools, at Gettysburg, 1924-25, at Berwick, 1925-28, and at James M. Coughlin High School at Wilkes-Barre, 1928-30. For three summers he was a critic teacher at Bucknell University and for two summers he served as principal of the demonstration school at Bucknell.

Leahy, asserting that "no pleasant fate awaits a beaten America," said: "The picture is grim, today. But I can remember a time when it was grim in 1918. . . . I believe that it was unity of purpose and willingness to sacrifice that stopped the tyrant then. That spirit still lives among us."

He is the author of a monograph based on a study of the history of teaching algebra in the United States.

FISHERMEN

Out fishing never more should be,
At any time, than two or three
And two were better, so that each
The other's inner mind may reach.
Blue stream and lake and sky and sea

Are partners of tranquility.
Away from life's continual brawl
True fishermen are thinkers all.

'Tis not for fish alone they rise
When dawn is early in the skies.
He'd be indeed a curious man
Who'd basely serve his frying pan
And make of day his dearest wish
An ordinary mess of fish.
I'm sure the fishermen I know
For something more than dinner go.

Our market fishermen are chaps
Who set for profit nets and traps
And they must early rise from bed
To earn their children's daily bread;
But these who fish for sport, delight
In all that happens, left and right.
In all things, beautiful and odd,
Which mark the handiwork of God.

Thus in the waters, two or three
Can drop their lines and happy be,
For round about them earth and sky
And stream will endless charm supply.
Magic and marvel will unfold,
And, in the name of fishing, they
Will find enchantment for the day.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

A RADIATING FORCE

What a glorious event is that of meeting a person who, at all times, seems to radiate a glow of light and hope. You know many, and so do I.
The moment you meet such a person you open up your heart, and something fragrant and everlasting enters.

"A happy man or woman," wrote Stevenson, "is a better thing to find than a five-pound note. He or she is a radiating focus of goodwill; and their entrance into a room is as though another candle had been lighted."

Some faces have a greater power to transform a day—or a life—than a thousand sunny days. I met a man today who is 80 years of age, but whose kindly and beautiful character influences everyone with whom he comes in contact. He seems to leave an afterglow behind him everywhere he goes.

Exterior counts for so little. It's what is inside that gives forth light and which radiates warmth.

Go into a store to purchase something. You are served and you pay —but what you don't pay for is courtesy, kindness, cheerfulness and a radiant personality that makes you glad that you decided to buy. Such serving is beyond purchase. Politeness is never for sale. It's something thrown in!

By merely being our honest selves, and exhibiting courage, we sow
"anonymous benefits" that spring up in out-of-the-way places, touching up other lives, lighting many a spark of hope, and reassuring many a faint heart. That is silent radiation.

Fellow feeling is the whisper of liberty and freedom in the world.
Once its radiation goes round the world, that happier day for which we all so fondly hope and devoutly pray, will become a reality.

Shakespeare spoke of the little candle, and how far it threw its golden beams—but the radiating force of character and goodwill can regenerate humanity. This radiating force is denied to no one!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "We."

9 DIRECTORS

More Subscribers Interesting comparisons were made by Superintendent Calvin A. Cluck between the condition of the Cooperative on August 1, 1941, and the same date this year. The 206 miles of wire energized on that date last year jumped to 558 by the first day of this month, he reported, and added that the number of subscribers being served increased from 247 to 1,416 in the same period. The average monthly bill to members has increased from $2.28 to $3.34 in the same 12-month period while the monthly income of the Cooperative climbed from $565.22 to $4,731.23. There are now 2,795 signed members of the Cooperative.

Mr. Cluck also stated that 600 miles of proposed Cooperative lines have been mapped and 125 miles are staked and cleared while 67 miles of poles are placed in Cumberland county awaiting the time when line building—banned for the duration of the war by a War Production order earlier this year—can be resumed.

The superintendent also gave a report of the nation-wide meeting of Rural Electrification officials which he attended recently at St. Louis. At that session, he said, Harry Slattery, national REA administrator, bestowed upon the Adams Electric Cooperative the title of "the most fightingest Cooperative in the U.S.A."

There were talks by the Rev. Mr. Lundahl, who spoke as a representative of the members of the Cooperative, and R. N. Benjamin, Harrisburg, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau. His theme was "Cooperation." Newly elected directors were introduced before adjournment.

MOOSE OPENS

(Continued from First Page) and its record of 16 years of growth. He described the remodeled lodge home as "another monument to the services of the Loyal Order of Moose."

After the address the program was closed with the lodge ritual and the building was thrown open for the entertainment of the lodge's guests and members.

In addition to the "open house" scheduled for this evening, these events have been announced for the remainder of the week: Tuesday, buffet supper and floor show; Wednesday, banquet at 6:30 p. m. and dancing at 9 p. m.; Thursday, dance, and Friday, stag night with buffet supper and floor show.

Riots And

(Continued from Page One) a renewal of the disturbances. In a two-hour drive through the troubled area my car was shot at several times. Roadside threw bottles, pots, rocks and anything they could hastily seize from stands of nearby shops.

Saved by Police

The windows of the automobile were smashed and I was showered with glass fragments. The car was dented in half a dozen places but I received only a few stinging pellets from the broken glass.

One Indian, detecting that I was an American, shouted to the crowd to stop, but he could not make himself heard. The police finally managed to force the car through the crowd and I escaped by racing down side streets amid catcalls, shouting and further attempts to halt the automobile by throwing human or other barricades across the road.

Gandhi Jailed

Gandhi—who originally had planned to address the meeting—was said to have scrawled the message just before he was arrested at his home at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and hustled off to Poona, 65 miles away, for internment.

Gandhi's wife was arrested last night when she insisted on addressing the Shiva-Ji park meeting and was taken to Poona to join him. Other leaders arrested included Maulana Abdul Kalam Azad, president of the party; Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru; and a faithful disciple, Madeline Slade, the daughter of a British admiral.

Azad, Nehru and many of their followers were held in Yerarda jail, six miles from Poona.

JAILBREAKER IS

(Continued from Page One) Sheriff Wolf said that he and Wagonman spent part of Thursday night near Granite after cutting across fields and part of the battlefield and following railroad tracks to reach that section. The captured fugitive also reported that he remained with Wagonman in that section of the county during Friday. When he was returned to jail on Saturday, Taylor indicated that he became separated from Wagonman in the vicinity of Bonneauville. Taylor said that during the day and a half he was at large the only food he had was three slices of bread he received at a farm house.

Taylor had served about half of a six-month term on a charge of assault with attempt to kill when he escaped. Wagonman was being held for court this month on a charge of stealing bicycles. Sheriff Wolf and the district attorney, J. Francis Yake, Jr., conferred today on the possibility of prosecutions arising from the jail break.

IN NAVAL SERVICE

George H. Allamong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Allamong, Fairfield, entered the Naval Training station at Norfolk, Virginia, on July 21, his parents reported today.

YANK ON TRIAL FOR ATTACK ON ENGLISH GIRL

Somewhere in Britain, Aug. 10 (AP)—Private Travis P. Hammond, 25, of Texas, the first American soldier of the second A. E. F. to be tried by general court martial in Britain, pleaded innocent today to a charge of assaulting a 16-year-old English girl.

If convicted he is liable to a death sentence or life imprisonment as a violator of the 92d article of war under which he is charged.

His trial was opened to the public although U. S. headquarters had announced earlier it would be conducted in private at the request of the girl's parents.

The court convened four days after King George had assented to an act of Parliament placing all U. S. soldiers in Britain under jurisdiction of their own courts.

Objects to Charge

Col. Milton M. Towner, an air force officer, is presiding over the 11-man court which, with two exceptions, is made up of air force officers.

Capt. Lester Prichard, of Missouri, Hammond's counsel, objected to the description of the charge.

The first witness, Private E. Bourwell of the air force, related how he and Hammond on the evening of July 17 drank several bottles of beer and went to a Y. M. C. A. canteen where they made dates with some girls.

He identified a tall, dark-haired and smartly dressed girl in a tweed suit who came to the door of the canteen as the girl Hammond dated. The name of the plaintiff was withheld.

Capt. Donald Reed, of Missouri, the prosecutor, said the offense occurred in an air raid shelter.

Asked whether beer had any effect on Hammond, Bourwell said "I cannot say about that. It certainly did on me."

Spaniards to establish a foothold in America; Fort Pulaski in Savannah, a seacoast defensive point in the Civil War, and Fort Jefferson off the southern tip of Florida, a federal prison, also were discussed. Fort Jefferson was identified as the place of imprisonment of Dr. Samuel Mudd, who rendered medical care to John Wilkes Booth on Booth's flight from Washington after fatally wounding President Lincoln.

Battlefield Pictures

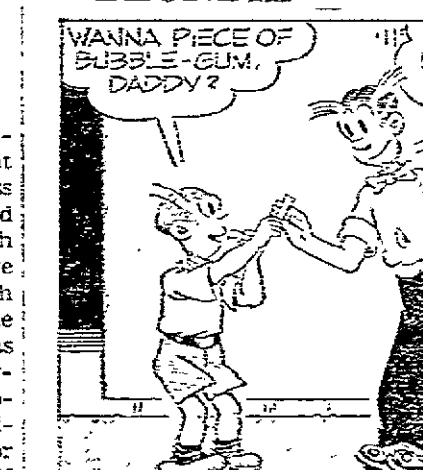

Photographs of the Gettysburg battlefield in wartime will be the subject of an illustrated talk by Dr. Frederick Tibbels, park historian, next Sunday evening. A large number of pictures of the town, taken immediately after the battle here pictures of Lincoln's visit here and will be shown. There will also be color views of monuments and scenes in the Park today.

The lecture will be given at 9 p. m.

SCORCHY SMITH

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

by George Harmon Cox

Chapter 46
Hester looked at Ward Allen. "It was true, wasn't it, that story about the shortage of accounts? Only it was Dean who was short—and on my account!"

"I don't know," Ward said, watching Della slip the brandy and water. "I knew he'd taken the bonds—not at first, but today. I could only guess why he'd taken them."

Fenner stopped beside Thorndike. "You'd better lie down."

"It won't matter now."

"Nothing thanks." He remained sitting but the effect of the shock was passing and pain had begun to write its message on his face.

"There are just one or two things I'd like to say."

He paused and seemed to be having trouble breathing.

"Hester. . . You're right about the hundred thousand. I was broke I tried to sell the ketch, but even that wouldn't have made much difference. I was short, with no way of making it up. When you told me you wanted to pay Clarke I knew it was the break I'd wanted. I sent the bonds up by Ward to make it look right. All I had to do was screw them from my other clients for a few hours and then put them back; then when I gave you an accounting it would be in order."

He heard Clarke quarreling with Ward at Hester's party; I overheard him talking to Raeburn on the terrace—although I didn't know who Raeburn was then—and it sounded like blackmail. I hoped the murder would cover up the theft, but then there was Hardeck."

"You were the one in the shadow of the house," Joyce said softly, remembering the moment on the terrace.

Thorndike did not notice the interruption.

"I hadn't much choice," he said. "It was getting the bonds or prison. And for anything would be better than that—even this."

He was silent then and presently Hester spoke.

"The other thing," Thorndike said as though he had not heard, "is this. I wouldn't have hurt Della, Ward. I had to make you think I would, though. I had to scare you both to silence. I wanted a chance to run for it. Anyone else, yes, I would have shot it out. But not her."

Della got up. Ward tried to restrain her but she shook off his hand. She went to Thorndike and knelt beside him.

"I believe you," she said.

Thorndike nodded and Della's eyes filled. Somewhere in the distance a siren shrilled, drawing rapidly nearer, then dying out again as it stopped below the windows.

Ward went to Della. He put his hands beneath her elbows and lifted her gently to her feet.

Lieutenant Bacon gnawed on his lower lip and refused to be entirely placated. Arriving at the same time as the ambulance he had sent Thorndike to the hospital with Sergeant Keogh and word had just come back that the man had died on the way. Now although the others had told him what had happened in the room, he was still far from satisfied.

"Every time I get mixed up with you in a murder case," he said to Murdock, "you hold out on me a little. Now you've got your wife doing it."

"She didn't hold out. Except at first."

"She was coming here to have it out with Allen. She even called you and Penner. Did she call me?"

"I wasn't sure," Joyce said. "I thought I was right but I couldn't be sure."

Bacon looked down his nose at her. "Well, I got to hand it to you. It was nice figuring, that part about Raeburn not being able to get a gun. I had the same idea this morning and we've been checking it. The nearest pawnshop to Hardeck's office is five blocks away, and that closed at nine. So I'd been wondering. About Allen, mostly. We'd checked Thorndike's, didn't the night of Clarke's murder. It wasn't anything. He was at his club like he said, but there are a couple of ways of getting out and in again besides the front door. The record showed him as being in but I didn't mean a thing."

He turned to Allen. "You actually did see her, huh?" he asked, indicating Della. "That night at Perry Clarke's?"

Allen nodded. "I'd parked my car, and crossed the street. Just as I was about to step inside the entrance I saw her round the corner."

"No wonder you wouldn't talk," he said. "A fine how-to-do. You won't talk because you're afraid of her, and she holding out because I kept on, not believing it could be she; then I turned and looked again. When she went over to her car I was sure. I couldn't figure it out, but there was nothing I could do. I had to see Clarke and I didn't want her to know anything about it."

"And you went up and knocked and he let you in?"

"I thought he was drunk. He staggered and fell backward. He never moved after that. I bent over him and then I saw the blood. He spoke just once. 'She took the envelope,' he said—I could hardly hear him—'Dee did it.'"

Allen glanced about. "I'd seen her, you see, and knew that she must have been there. I never dreamed that instead of 'Dee'—that's what I always call her—he was trying to say, 'Dean.' He may even have said, 'Dean,' but having just seen her—and later finding the envelope and bonds gone—I could only think of that one word."

"Dee," he sighed. "I didn't know why you'd gone there but I knew Clarke, Della. I thought he must have become abusive, that you had seen the gun and in desperation used it."

"He had to think that, Della," Murdock said. "He saw you. Clarke mentioned your name—or so he thought."

"I took the gun and got out," Allen said. "I was a fool to drop it in that trash can, but I'd wiped it off. I never really thought that I was in danger."

"Innocent people seldom do," Murdock said.

"No wonder you wouldn't talk," he said. "A fine how-to-do. You won't talk because you're afraid of her, and she holding out because she'll involve you if she says anything." He looked at Hester. "You never said anything to Thorndike about the envelope—or what was in it?"

"I never knew there was an envelope," Hester crossed her knees and her tone was curt. "If I'd known about the envelope and those copies, wouldn't I have demanded them when I paid over the hundred thousand?"

"I guess you would."

More Subscribers Interesting comparisons were made by Superintendent Calvin A. Cluck between the condition of the Cooperative on August 1, 1941, and the same date this year. The 206 miles of wire energized on that date last year jumped to 558 by the first day of this month, he reported, and added that the number of subscribers being served increased from 247 to 1416 in the same period. The average monthly bill to members has increased from $228 to $334 in the same 12-month period while the monthly income of the Cooperative climbed from $555.22 to $4,731.33. There are now 2,795 signed members of the Cooperative.

Mr. Cluck also stated that 600 miles of proposed Cooperative lines have been mapped and 125 miles are staked and cleared while 87 miles of poles are placed in Cumberland county awaiting the time when line building—banned for the duration of the war by a War Production order earlier this year—can be resumed.

The superintendent also gave a report of the nation-wide meeting of Rural Electrification officials which he attended recently at St. Louis. At that session, he said, Harry Slattery, national REA administrator, bestowed upon the Adams Electric Cooperative the title of "the most fightingest Cooperative in the U.S.A."

There were talks by the Rev. Mr. Lundahl, who spoke as a representative of the members of the Cooperative, and R. N. Benjamin, Harrisburg, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau. His theme was "Cooperation." Newly elected directors were introduced before adjournment.

a renewal of the disturbances. In a two-hour drive through the troubled area my car was shot at several times. Rowdies threw bottles, pots, rocks and anything they could hastily seize from stands of nearby shops.

Saved by Police

The windows of the automobile were smashed and I was showered with glass fragments. The car was dented in half a dozen places but I received only a few stinging pellets from the broken glass.

One Indian, detecting that I was an American, shouted to the crowd to stop, but he could not make himself heard.

The police finally managed to force the car through the crowd and I escaped by racing down side streets amid catcalls, shouting and further attempts to halt the automobile by throwing human or other barricades across the road.

Gandhi Jailed

Gandhi—who originally had planned to address the meeting—was said to have scrawled the message just before he was arrested at his home at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and hustled off to Poona, 65 miles away, for internment.

Gandhi's wife was arrested last night when she insisted on addressing the Shiva-Ji park meeting and was taken to Poona to join him.

Other leaders arrested included Maulana Abdul Kalan Azad, president of the party; Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru; and a faithful disciple, Madeline Slade, the daughter of a British admiral.

Azad, Nehru and many of their followers were held in Yeravda jail, six miles from Poona.

Sheriff Wolff that he and Wagaman spent part of Thursday night near Granite after cutting across fields and part of the battlefield and following railroad tracks to reach that section. The captured fugitive also reported that he remained with Wagaman in that section of the county during Friday. When he was returned to jail on Saturday, Taylor indicated that he became separated from Wagaman in the vicinity of Bonneville. Taylor said that during the day and a half he was at large the only food he had was three slices of bread he received at a farmhouse.

Taylor had served about half of a six-month term on a charge of assault with attempt to kill when he escaped. Wagaman was being held for court this month on a charge of stealing bicycles.

Sheriff Wolff and the district attorney, J. Francis Yake, Jr., conferred today on the possibility of prosecutions arising from the jail break.

IN NAVAL SERVICE

George H. Allamomg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Allamomg, Fairfield, entered the Naval Training station at Norfolk, Virginia, on July 21, his parents reported today.

YANK ON TRIAL FOR ATTACK ON ENGLISH GIRL

Somewhere in Britain, Aug. 10 (AP)—Private Travis P. Hammond, 25, of Texas, the first American soldier of the second A. E. F. to be tried by general court martial in Britain, pleaded innocent today to a charge of assaulting a 16-year-old English girl.

If convicted he is liable to a death sentence or life imprisonment as a violator of the 92d article of war under which he is charged.

His trial was opened to the public although U. S. headquarters had announced earlier it would be conducted in private at the request of the girl's parents.

The court convened four days after King George had assented to an act of Parliament placing all U. S. soldiers in Britain under jurisdiction of their own courts.

Objects to Charge

Col. Milton M. Townner, an air force officer, is presiding over the 11-man court which, with two exceptions, is made up of air force officers.

Capt. Lester Prichard, of Missouri, Hammond's counsel, objected to the description of the charge.

The first witness, Private E. Boutwell of the air force, related how he and Hammond on the evening of July 17 drank several bottles of beer and went to a Y. M. C. A. canteen where they made dates with some girls.

He identified a tall, dark-haired and smartly dressed girl in a tweed suit who came to the door of the courtroom as the girl Hammond dated. The name of the plaintiff was withheld.

Capt. Donald Reed, of Missouri, the prosecutor, said the offense occurred in an air raid shelter.

Asked whether beer had any effect on Hammond, Boutwell said "I cannot say about that. It certainly did on me."

Spaniards to establish a foothold in America; Fort Pulaski in Savannah, a seacoast defensive point in the Civil War, and Fort Jefferson off the southern tip of Florida, a federal prison, also were discussed. Fort Jefferson was identified as the place of imprisonment of Dr. Samuel Mudd, who rendered medical care to John Wilkes Booth on Booth's flight from Washington after fatally wounding President Lincoln.

Battlefield Pictures

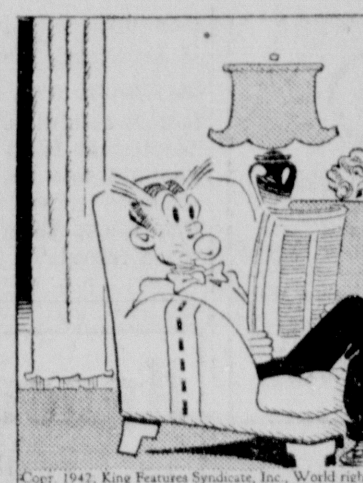

Photographs of the Gettysburg battlefield in wartime will be the subject of an illustrated talk by Dr. Frederick Tilberg, park historian, next Sunday evening. A large number of pictures of the town, taken immediately after the battle here and will be shown. There will also be color views of monuments and scenes in the Park today.

The lecture will be given at 9 p. m.

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

by George Harmon Cox

Chapter 46

Hester looked at Ward Allen. "It was true, wasn't it, that story about the shortage of accounts? Only it was Dean who was short—and on my account!"

"I don't know," Ward said, watching Della sip the brandy and water. "I knew he'd taken the bonds—not at first, but today. I could only guess why he'd taken them."

Fenner stopped beside Thorndike. "You'd better lie down."

"It won't matter now."

"Want a drink?"

"Nothing thanks." He remained sitting but the effect of the shock was passing and pain had begun to write its message on his face.

"There are just one or two things I'd like to say."

He paused and seemed to be having trouble breathing.

"Hester. . . . You're right about the hundred thousand. I was broke I tried to sell the ketch, but even that wouldn't have made much difference. I was short, with no way of making it up. When you told me you wanted to pay Clarke I knew it was the break I'd wanted. I sent the bonds up by Ward to make it look right. All I had to do was borrow them from my other clients for a few hours and then put them back; then when I gave you an accounting it would be in order. . . . I heard Clarke quarreling with Ward at Hester's party; I overheard him talking to Raeburn on the terrace—although I didn't know who Raeburn was then—and it sounded like blackmail. I hoped the murder would cover up the theft, but—then there was Hardacker."

"You were the one in the shadow of the house," Joyce said softly, remembering the moment on the terrace.

Thorndike did not notice the interruption.

"I hadn't much choice," he said. "It was getting the bonds or prison. And for me anything would be better than that—even this."

He was silent then and presently Hester spoke.

"She didn't hold out. Except at first."

"She was coming here to have it out with Allen. She even called you and Fenner. Did she call me?"

KNIFE ATTACK
Avondale, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—State police investigated today a knife attack upon Norman Stryckning, 33, of Avondale. Wounded in the chest, Stryckning was reported in "satisfactory condition" in Chester County hospital at West Chester. The police did not reveal details of the stabbing except to say Stryckning was taken to a physician's office "by a friend."

2 SABOTEURS "SPARED" FOR GIVING DATA
Washington, Aug. 10 (AP)—The government was "perfectly justified" in showing leniency to two of the convicted eight German saboteurs by sending them to prison because "they helped considerably" in preparing the case against the six who were electrocuted, Attorney General Biddle said yesterday.
This strategy of sparing the lives of the men who turned tale bearer to disclose activities of their confederates in international conspiracy who came by submarine to launch a two-year sabotage campaign here, was seen as a government bid for aid from any member of other enemy bands.
Ten Are Jailed
Ten people have been jailed in New York and Chicago on charges of having aided the saboteurs.
There was no word on the disposition of the bodies of the six men who were executed Saturday.
The British radio broadcast the news of the execution of Henrich Harm Heinck, Richard Quirin, Edward John Kerling, Herbert Hans Haupt, Werner Thiel and Hermann Otto Neubauer to the Nazi-dominated continent in several languages Saturday night.
Those spared by Presidential commutation were George John Dasch, sentenced to 30 years, and Ernest Peter Burger, to serve the remainder of his life in prison.

ARMY FORCE IN ENGLAND READY FOR INVASION
With the U. S. Army Ground Forces in England, Aug. 10 (AP)—American troops have taken over some of England's defense areas and are ready to help the British meet a German invasion, but they are not being trained "to sit on the defensive."
Maj. Gen. M. W. Clark, commander of U. S. ground forces in Britain, said in his first press conference yesterday that United States troops are coming "by the thousand upon thousand" and added that "the sooner a second front could be opened the better."
The 46-year-old general said that American troops were ready to invade the continent at once if necessary although they "could profitably use six months more training."
Better Trained
"In fact," General Clark said, "our men are far better trained than were American troops which reached France in the same period during the last war."
"There is only one way to get real experience and that is in battle," Clark said. "You can do only so much in training. The picked divisions being sent to this theater have been formed at least a year although this does not mean that every man in every division has had a year's training."
"After all it is going to take young men to keep up with the Germans."

TRIPLE CRASH INJURES TRIO
A Carlisle merchant and a young woman were seriously hurt in a triple auto collision Saturday night at Carlisle.
Most seriously hurt is Albert Watson, 54, Carlisle, operator of the Bowman and Company department store in Carlisle. He suffered a fractured skull, contusions and abrasions of the scalp, and severe shock when hurtled from his machine to the pavement in the crash. His condition at the Carlisle hospital was reported as "still serious."
Edith Long, 22, of Gardners, R. 1, passenger in another car, was also admitted to the Carlisle hospital, suffering lacerations of the mouth, loss of several teeth, lacerations of the left knee, possible fracture of the left knee-cap, contusions of the forehead and shock. Her condition was reported as improving.
Triple Crash
Police said the crash resulted when an automobile driven by Charles Ramser, of Coraopolis, going south in West street, collided with Watson's machine, going west in High street. Watson's car was spun by the impact, into the path of an oncoming machine, operated by Russell Bream, of Gardners, R. 1, going east in High street. The door of Watson's car was torn off, throwing the lone occupant from the driver's seat to the macadam street.
Bream escaped injury, and Miss Long, a passenger, was the only person hurt in that car. Bream's brother, Charles Leroy Bream, of Gardners, R. 1, also was unhurt. Ramser, his wife, and Marie Jennings, of Pittsburgh, also escaped injury, although all three cars were badly damaged.

Ambulances Take Saboteurs' Bodies

Armed soldiers press back spectators as two ambulances carry away the bodies of six Nazi saboteurs who had been electrocuted at the District of Columbia jail in Washington, D. C. Two of the eight men landed in this country from submarines were given prison sentences.

800 C.I.O. Truck Drivers On Strike
Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—U. S. Conciliator W. F. Ashe said today a strike of 800 CIO truck drivers, who haul coal to 4,500 Fayette county coke ovens, "must end quickly" because coke is needed for blast furnace operations at steel mills.
The strike began Saturday in protest of a decision the drivers said the Office of Price Administration has made in a dispute over coal hauling rates paid truck owners. The drivers are seeking back pay under a rate increase which the union claims the OPA recommended for the owners but did not make retroactive to June 15.

The drivers were awarded back pay in an agreement arranged recently by Dr. Frank Pierson, federal conciliator, in recommending a wage scale of 75 to 80 cents an hour for them. The men claimed they had been earning not more than 50 cents an hour.

DEFENSE GROUP SEEKS MEANS TO BOLSTER MORALE
Harrisburg, Aug. 10 (AP)—The state council of defense turned its attention today to carrying forward "with unabated zeal and effectiveness" programs to bolster civilian morale under ever-shifting wartime conditions.
The council's advisory committee on American unity warned local committees that "new factors affecting morale" will be encountered when the nation's armed forces become heavily engaged in battle and added:
"See to it that 'somebody does something' about situations in which it is the general agreement that 'something should be done'."
Means Suggested
Declaring "the cooperative attitude of the people of Pennsylvania has been good," Executive Secretary Arthur R. Warnock of the state unity committee suggested local groups:
Assist in organizing public meetings and patriotic demonstrations.
See that selectees are sent off "with suitable ceremonies" and give recognition to enlistments in the armed forces.
Combat the spread of false rumors and unjustified criticism.
Give special attention to homes where wartime sacrifices hit unusually hard.
Extend commendation for outstanding contributions to the war effort.
Aid in maintaining morale in the specific activities of the councils of defense.
